GOULD AND HIS FRIENDS DESERT THE STOCK MARKET.

N'Change to day the course of prices and the appearance of the Stock Exchange both indicated that the bulls had folded their tents like the Arabs and as silently stolen away. From the very start the market had a sickly look, and although the bears made little noise, their persistent selling made prices weaken all the same. The followers of Cammack and Bateman, not the slightest idea of what was about to happen.

Mrs. Browne has occasion to leave her husband and child for a brief period, and on returning found them missing. Mr. Browne had seized his pretty child, and, wrapping his overcoat around her, ran out into the street, astonishing several who were going to church.

It now transpires that he went directly to one of the wharves, where he had a fine catboat awaiting him and a couple of men to sail her. He got into the boat with the child and went in a southerly direction, and that is the last that has been seen of the child, the father or the boat.

The mother is well-nigh heart-broken. She has consulted several lawyers and proceedings will be taken to-day. Not the least remarkable feature of the business was the almost entire absence of support. The bears once or twice rallied prices in the hope of being able to put out 'resh short lines to advantage, but there were no buyers for any considerable amounts, and they then simply made quotations to suit themselves.

Union Pacific was knocked down 2 per cent, and St. Paul, Missouri Pacific, Manitoba and Louisville & Nashville nearly as much. Reading was about the only stock that refused to yield and all the "gunning" for its wealthy holders seems to be without avail.

The bulls say that about 61 is the "brown sheeting price" for Reading and that the bears can sell all they want of it, but by pursuing this course they are only making the thrashing they will ultimately get all the more severe.

Gould and his friends seemed to have deserted the market to day and the mouthings of the smaller bulls were entirely without effect. St. Paul was sold freely by Phil. Harding, Jones, McCormick & Kennett and Van Emburg & Atterbury, the orders it is supposed emanting from Chicago. The decline to day was materially assisted by the weakness of Americans in London, the decline in prices there having been equal to by a 3½ per cent.

The steamer La Gascogne brought 1,085,000 frances to Kidder, Peabody & Co. The flow of gold this way is beginning to ebb.

Foreign exchange was firmer and the Bank of British North America advanced posted rates to 4.82½ and 4.86.

The prevaling dulness on the Stock Exchange is shown by the official exhibit of the transactions last week. The sales of stocks were 406.562 shares less and of railroad bonds 48.859.300 less than in the same week of 1866. Not a single transaction in Governments was recorded.

Col. Baird, the Republican candidate for Mayor, is making a lively canvass and it is whispered that in the uptown wards there has been plenty of money since Republican werkers began their house to house canvass. was not renominated. Then I abor candidate, John J. Clancy and his friends insist that he will poll nearly 10,000 Democratic votes, making a total of 14,500 votes which the Republicans expect to profit by.

On the other hand Chapin has carried a Republican Assembly District by 3,000 majority, and his backers ask why can't he make up five times that amount in twelve Assembly districts. He will not get many labor votes because of his alleged unfavorable action towards the five-cent fare bill in the Assembly, and what is described as "his generally distinguished bearing" on most matters Ordinarily this don't affect a candidate, but when he is running against a stone-cutter, who believes in saloons without stint, and is a Grand Army man besides, it does, and the Republicans are working everything for all that it is worth in this campaign.

sides, it does, and the Republicans are working everything for all that it is worth in this campaign.

Men of a sporting turn of mind are not doing much betting. With the Labor element out the race would be close, and its presence complicates matters even more. In past years before the campaign had gone this far Democratic politicians enjoyed themselves flashing $1,000 bills in the faces of their Republican friends, but so far this year they have not done much of that.

The contest between Jury Commissioner Wm. A. Furey, Democrat, and Justice Clark D. Rhinehart, Republican, for the Shrievalty began this morning, when Mr. Furey started in to undo a good deal of the work done by his opponent in the last two weeks. Furey is chief dispenser of Navy Yard patronage, and has made a few friends by the manner in which he has dealt it out, as well as a great many enemies among those who want the earth. But as Tax Collector, Jury Commissioner and Secretary of the General Committee, he has made friends without number. His leading opponent, Judge Courtney, who was beaten not by the delegates, but by the leaders, is working hard for Finey, although he wants to be elected himself to his present office. Rhinehart has, however, been doing work that his Democratic opponents never thought he could do, and the Republicans say frankly that Furey is the best man that the Democratic ould have nominated.

To-night the Senatorial nominations will be made. John C. Jacobs is slated to succeed Senator Pierce, one of the Broadway Railroad Investigating Committee, and Mortimer C. Earl will probably have the privelege of running against Senator Jacob Worth. George W. The story that Col. John R. Fellows was once in the habit of assigning his salary as Assistant District-Attorney to George H. "There was, however, no intention what-

He applied to me for loans quite frequently especially at the time of this incident when one or two members of his family had been very sick, and the physician's bills had been unusually heavy. I took an assignment of his salary for a month or two as security. On one occasion, I think it was about two years ago, he speplied to me for a loan and I, understanding that he intended to assign to me the current monthly salary as security, drew up an assignment accordingly, which he executed.

EXASPERATED COLONISTS.

NEWFOUNDLAND RESENTS ITS TREAT-MENT BY THE IMPERIAL GOVERNMENT.

Not Even an Unofficial Representation on the Pinhery Commission-They Say a Settle ment Cannot be Forced on Them, Howature to Decide-Editorial Opinions

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD. HALIPAX, N.S., Oct. 24 .- It is authoritatively stated here that Newfoundland will not be allowed even an unofficial representation on the Fishery Commission. This is exasperat ing to the people of that colony, who warmly resent the way they are being ignored and isolated by the Imperial Government. They comfort themselves, however, by the thought that, though the Commission proposes a settlement, the Imperial authorities cannot force it upon Newfoundland.

The St. John's Mercary, commenting upon the question, says: "In any event the treaty must be submitted to our Legislature as far as its operations here are concerned, and it will be for us to decide whether it will be for will be for us to decide whether it will be for our interests to accept or reject. None of our maritime or territorial rights can be disposed of contrary to the decision of the Legislature."

The Mercury adds that the basis of negotiations must be the treaty of 1818.

The Harbor de Grace Standard says that if the British Commissioners can't get free

The Harbor de Grace Standard says that if the British Commissioners can't get free fish, the sooner Newfoundland stringently enforces the Bait act, both against American and French fishermen, the better. It implores the Government not to make the country a laughing-stock to its jealous French and American competitors by allowing the Bait act, obtained at such cost and trouble, to remain a dead-letter on the statute-book.

An official here, of long experience in diplomatic matters and intimate acquaintance with the views of both the Canadian and Fnglish governments, frankly expressed his opinion that the Commission would end in a flasco.

Collision on the North River. between the Hoboken ferryboat Paunpeck and the west Shore Railway's tug Kingston. There was a misunderstanding of signals and while both boats were backing they came together off West Tenth street. The Paunpeck's Joiner-work was damaged $500. No one was injured.
